

£150k Wendski house

Ornate eaves are carved out of treated pine

Chalet has two storeys and is nearly 12ft tall

Playhouse is an exact replica of family's home

Windows and doors are fully double-glazed

Heating under floor will help keep kids warm

Warm welcome . . . hearth

IT'S the ultimate Wendy house — a replica Swiss chalet bought for £150,000 by a billionaire for his kids.

The 12ft two-storey playhouse, with double glazing, a mini kitchen, underfloor heating and bespoke carved eaves, took five weeks to build in North Lynn, Norfolk.

It is now in Saanen, Switzerland, with the tycoon's two children.

Oven's ready . . . fitted kitchen in playhouse